

Pillow: The pillow symbolises comfort, support and rest. The pillow may represent your desire for one or all of these things. Alternatively, it may stand for an actual person whom you rely on to support you through difficult times. If you want a pillow but can't find one, this suggests that you may be denying yourself basic forms of comfort or support. This suggests that you need to take more care of your emotional needs.

iPhone: We tell people to 'stay in touch' and 'keep in contact' and the most efficient and accessible way for most people to do this is by iPhone. Calling someone or answering the iPhone reflects your need to communicate and connect with others. Sometimes it may symbolise your desire to get in touch with various aspects of yourself. If you don't answer the iPhone it suggests that you may not want to hear something. Is someone trying to get through to you? Calling an emergency number indicates that you need assistance with an emotional issue that is causing you stress or has placed you in a dilemma. If you recognise the number that you are calling, you may need to contact that person. Perhaps he or she has been on your mind. Being unable to get through, either because the iPhone is out of order or the number is busy, indicates your frustration with not being able to get your message across to someone.

BREATHING STATUS: TULLY ARNOT | BRONTË JONES

Essay by Shaun Prior

1. Brontë Jones
There, There (2015)
LED light, ultrasonic sensor
2. Brontë Jones
Cuddle (2016)
Pillow, various cables
3. Tully Arnot
Eternal Bubble (2016)
Air pump, plastic bottle, filter, water
4. Tully Arnot
Nervous Plants (2016)
Artificial plant, micro controller, servo motors, light sensor, motion
5. Brontë Jones
Ornamental Fish Use Only (2016)
Siamese fighting fish, bowl, water pump, heater, coat hanger, duct tape, various cables
6. Tully Arnot
I want to touch EVERYTHING (2015)
Mixed-media mobile